Youth Summer Camps that Spark Creativity At The Crucible®

Imagination is the beginning of creation. You imagine what you desire, you will what you imagine and at last you create what you will. -- George Bernard Shaw Educators agree that stimulating the imagination of young minds is crucial to achieving a successful education; yet schools have slashed their art programs, and parents struggle to find an environment that gives their children the freedom to experiment, imagine and create. The Crucible®, now the largest public industrial and fine arts facility in the Bay Area, is just that kind of place.

The Crucible® offers courses not available in schools, typical summer camps or art programs. Here young people 8 to 18 learn to bend metal, shape glass, and control fire; exploring electronics, art, science and much more through age-appropriate classes in a safe, supportive environment. They learn responsibility along with their new skills, and confidence acquired from a job well done.

This year camp has been expanded to four sessions so you can tailor a full-day or a half-day of summer fun for your child. Register early to assure your spot as classes sell out quickly.
